“I want to make a difference in patients' lives by offering the most appropriate health services and coordinated multispecialty care to improve their quality of life.”

About Carlos Trejos, MD, FACP

Dr. Trejos is an accomplished internist with a passion for the challenges of primary care, from helping patients focus on healthier lifestyles to diagnosing and treating the most esoteric diseases. Above all, he focuses on creating strong doctor-patient relationships, which he sees as essential for high-quality care. "I want to make a difference in patients' lives by offering the most appropriate health services and coordinated multispecialty care to improve their quality of life," says Dr. Trejos. "I enjoy being able to connect to people, and it's rewarding to see them have good results."
