“ Chen Senior Medical Center is doing exactly what I've felt is needed in today's healthcare system spending more time with patients.”

About Paule L. Thomas, MSN, FNP-BC

Paule Thomas understands the importance of time and its ability to help her patients heal. "If there's one thing I could change about healthcare today, it would be the time spent with patients," she says. "Chen Senior Medical Center is doing exactly what I've felt is needed in today's healthcare system spending more time with patients when they visit and allowing them to come to the office as many times as they need. More access to care can help patients better adhere to their treatment plans and live healthier lives."
