“Advocating for seniors is especially a privilege. It’s a way to honor them, and I enjoy their wisdom and approach to life.”

About German Lafaurie, MD

From very early on, Dr. German Lafaurie had a love of science and desire to help people. It was clear that practicing medicine was his calling. Having cared for patients of all ages, Dr. Lafaurie says, “Advocating for seniors is especially a privilege. It’s a way to honor them, and I enjoy their wisdom and approach to life.” In addition to establishing good relationships, Dr. Lafaurie likes to help patients take an active role in managing their health. “Seeing how a plan of care has improved their lives is very rewarding,” Dr. Lafaurie adds.

When he’s not in the office, Dr. Lafaurie enjoys quality time with his wife and son, playing sports and traveling. Once day, he would love to visit Morocco.
