“I realized that I want to provide compassionate care to people—like the doctors who helped my sister when she was a baby.”

About Marly Rodriguez, MD

Volunteering at a hospital while in college inspired Dr. Marly Rodriguez to pursue a medical career. “I realized that I want to provide compassionate care to people—like the doctors who helped my sister when she was a baby,” says Dr. Rodriguez. Working here, she enjoys being able to focus on seniors. “I love listening to their stories and learning about their life experiences.” By taking time to build relationships, Dr. Rodriguez also feels she can provide the best quality care.

When Dr. Rodriguez is not with patients or keeping up on medical research, she likes to spend time with her husband and English bulldog, go to the gym, travel, try new foods, and play board games. She also dreams of visiting Greece one day.
