“It is truly rewarding to give back to older generations with the care they deserve.”

About Ricardo Melendez-Fadhel, MD

Dr. Ricardo Melendez-Fadhel has always been fascinated with the human body and dedicated his life to helping others after seeing the impact of his grandfather’s health complications. “It is truly rewarding to give back to older generations with the care they deserve,” Dr. Melendez-Fadhel says. “By improving their health and quality of life, I hope to help them spend more time focusing on what matters most.”

Outside of work and medical research, Dr. Melendez-Fadhel enjoys quality time with his wife. Born and raised on an island, he is drawn to surfing, boating, scuba diving, relaxing on the beach, and watching sunsets. He enjoys traveling around the world and learning about different cultures.
