About Felix Grudsky, DO

For Dr. Felix Grudsky, practicing medicine is not a job. It’s a passion, which rubbed off from his late grandmother, a well-respected pediatrician. “I’ve always had a great appreciation for the wisdom that seniors share, and it’s been a pleasure to focus primarily on their care,” says Dr. Grudsky, who is board certified in internal medicine.

While he frequently emphasizes preventive care, forming long-lasting relationships is the most enjoyable part for Dr. Grudsky. “Each patient is like family for me, for whom I care, understand, and respect.”

Outside of work and medical research, Dr. Grudsky loves to spend time with his family, exercise, and cook. He also enjoys travel and has always wanted to visit all the continents to learn about different countries and cultures.
