

“Patients are much more than a diagnosis. They have unique stories and history, which influence their daily life and care. ”

About Makandall Saint Eloi, MD

Dr. Makandall Saint Eloi grew up watching his mom care for nursing home patients, and he vowed to make a difference for seniors by forming meaningful relationships like she had. “Patients are much more than a diagnosis,” says Dr. Saint Eloi, who is board-certified in family medicine. “They have unique stories and history, which influence their daily life and care. I love when we find what helps them reach their goals and maximize their potential.”

When not with his patients, Dr. Saint Eloi collaborates with other physicians, keeps up with medical research, and spends time with his wife and son. Dr. Saint Eloi also advocates for the communities by providing education on nutrition, mental health, and chronic disease—and by cheering on student-athletes.
