“I pride myself on listening to my patients’ concerns and I love watching them reach their goals.”

About Blanca Infante Avila, MSN, ARNP, FNP-BC

Blanca Infante knew in high school that she “wanted to work in the health field caring for patients.” She prides herself on listening to her patients’ concerns and loves watching them reach their goals. Blanca Infante has “deep respect” for the senior population. “I try to make their life as easy as possible,” she says. Blanca Infante believes healthcare should be accessible for everyone and emphasizes the importance of health education. Blanca Infante often reads and participates in seminars to keep up with new medical advancements.

When not caring for patients, Blanca Infante enjoys working with her hands and making pottery. She hopes to one day take pottery classes. She also likes exercising in her free time.
