

"I enjoy the process of investigating patients' diseases by using critical thinking and working on improving their quality of life."

About Fabiana Vastola Mascolo, MD

Dr. Fabiana Vastola Mascolo has always wanted to be a physician and cannot imagine doing anything else. "I strive to apply an integrated approach to medicine, seeing patients in a humanistic and scientific way," she explains. Honesty, compassion, and dedication are key in her practice. The time she spends getting to know her patients and their health is her favorite part of her profession. "I enjoy the process of investigating patients' diseases by using critical thinking and working on improving their quality of life," she says. She adds, "I enjoy building a meaningful relationship with the patients and want them to feel like I am someone they can trust."

When not with patients, Dr. Vastola Mascolo can be found painting or enjoying time with family and friends.
