About Safanah Alshinqity , MD

For Dr. Safanah Alshinqity, being a doctor is her life’s purpose. “My job is not a job, it’s my life. It’s about loving to do good cases, and ultimately loving to help people,” she says. She believes in “patient-centered care that optimizes function and/or well-being.” She encourages patients to “express their concern” and strives to “thoughtfully listen to their answers and reflect on their wishes.” She especially enjoys connecting with her senior patients. “Everyone deserves a good relationship with their doctors,” she says. If she could, she would make healthcare “affordable and available for everyone.”

In her free time, Dr. Alshinqity loves spending time with family, biking, and reading to further expand her medical knowledge.
