About Karen Bravo Ramirez, MD

“I appreciate the diversity of backgrounds which come with diverse topics, and being a primary care doctor allows me to reach many people directly and make a positive difference for them,” Dr. Karen Bravo Ramirez explains. In her practice, she emphasizes the importance of prevention and believes in taking a holistic approach to care, which she does by “getting to know the patients personally.” Learning from patients is one of her favorite parts of her profession. “I am here for listening, working as a team and preparing a plan adjusted to your needs,” she says. She finds great satisfaction in caring for seniors.

In her down time, Dr. Bravo Ramirez loves visiting parks and museums. She also enjoys trying new restaurants.
