“Getting to know the patients and helping them achieve a better health.”

About Harry Diaz, MD

Growing up, Dr. Harry Diaz spent a lot of time in his physician father’s office, which undoubtly played a role in his own decision to pursue medicine. “Getting to know the patients and helping them achieve a better health” is his favorite part of working in healthcare. He is dedicated to developing relationships with patients and earning their trust. He strives to be available to patients and provide them with the best of his experiences. He adds that he has “always had good, rewarding experiences” with the senior population.

In his down time, Dr. Diaz enjoys cooking, upkeeping his saltwater fish tanks, and being involved in his son’s tennis career. He is also “very involved in the Hispanic community and culture.”
