“I believe in frequent patient visits, and taking the time to understand their concerns.”

About Kira Balestrini, MD

At a young age, Dr. Kira Balestrini knew she wanted to be a physician. “I was fascinated by the complexity of our bodies and wanted to learn more about it. Then, I realized how much we can help others with this profession, and I liked it even more,” she explains. She believes in frequent visits with patients and always takes the time to understand their concerns. “Every day I listen to them and do my best to help them deal with their conditions,” she says. She genuinely cares about them and enjoys guiding them through the medical system. She loves learning and often attends conferences and reads journals.

Dr. Balestrini can be found enjoying her free time with family. She also loves exploring the outdoors and exercising.
