About Stephanie Coriolan, MD

“I became a doctor because I wanted to help people with their most basic need: the need for good health,” explains Dr. Stephanie “Stef” Coriolan. She adds, “The senior population is often misunderstood or neglected, and I wanted to make a difference by serving this population to the best of my abilities.” She strives to optimize her patients’ health and wants them to know that she truly cares about their quality of life. “Trust and open communication” are the foundations of her practice. “I may not always tell them what they want to hear, but I always tell them what they need to hear,” she says.

Stef loves spending her free time with her family. She also enjoys reading novels and listening to music.
