“I believe in being a good listener and connecting with patients to help them pursue their health goals.”

About Rejane Guerrier, MD

Dr. Rejane Guerrier loves having a direct, positive influence in people's lives as a physician. “I am passionate about health and have always enjoyed helping people to pursue active and healthy lifestyles. I love working with the senior population, as I see them as inspiration to perseverance and achieving longevity,” she explains. She strives to be accessible and wants patients to know they that can always rely on her. “I believe in being a good listener and connecting with patients to help them pursue their health goals,” she says.

Dr. Guerrier can be found rock climbing, exploring nature, or reading in her free time. She also loves exploring different countries and cultures whenever she can.
