

“I want each patient to feel heard, respected, and supported.”

About Andrea De Lemos Kelner , M.D.

Dr. Andrea De Lemos Kelner finds it “deeply rewarding” to support the “health, independence, and well-being” of patients, especially seniors. “Caring for my patients’ health is my top priority, and I make sure they feel that. I work hard to meet their needs, provide education, and support them in improving their health,” she explains. She believes that patience and active listening her key in building trusting relationships. “I want each patient to feel heard, respected, and supported,” she explains. She wants patients to view her as a “supportive partner” in their health journey.

In her down time, Dr. De Lemos can be found enjoying the outdoors, exploring new coffee shops, and viewing art.
